Should I consider becoming a product stewardship professional?

- New experiences broaden your horizon and strengthen your career.
- Your skills are well suited for it!
- It will strengthen your organization
- You might even become a hero

To become a PS Professional, what may I be missing?

- Product EHS related regulations
- Business knowledge
- Product development experience
- Network of peers

How can I effectively support product stewardship professionals?

- Build a good relationship with your PSP
- Know what they do day to day
- Learn their biggest pain points
- Ask them how you can help them

...next steps

1. Begin to build your network
2. Engage in training and conferences
3. Look for project opportunities in your current role to support PSP directly

"When you ask the wrong question, even the right answer is misleading."
